Abstract
This study aims to describe the application of Madurese literature as a medium for learning Madurese in the globalization era. Qualitative descriptive research method with research subjects of fourth grade students at SDIT Multazam Pamekasan. The research location is SDIT Mutazam Pamekasan which is located in Buddih Village, Pademawu District, Pamekasan Regency. Data collection through interviews, observation and questionnaires. The results of the research and discussion of the children's literature used are the Madurese song poetry entitled Kembang Malate and tondhu’ majheng. With the application of this Madurese children's literary work, students' Madurese vocabulary and language skills develop rapidly. Students find it easy to pronounce and understand the meaning of the Madurese language if it is conveyed in the form of songs that have a happy tone because it is different from everyday language, the language in literary works is emo-aesthetic in nature which expresses beauty. Because language in literature is a language that is creative, for example there is sound play in poetry and rhymes, by reading literary works intensely, students are increasingly creative in using their language. Students become trained to operate grammatical structures better and creatively. Students also know the level of language contained in Madurese and its proper use. Students are now starting to actively use Madurese, especially when communicating with peers.

INTRODUCTION

Madurese as one of the Indonesian local dialect that used by Madurese people, whether live at Madura Island or outside of Madura Island. Hand in hand with another Indonesian local dialect, the state of Madurese are as follow: (1) local pride symbol, (2) local identity symbol, (3) family and it societies connection tools.

In fact, as a local pride symbol, the young generation especially at Madura Island doesn’t seem look a like proud with their mother tongue, Madurese. Based on field observation, the biggest most children using Indonesian language at the teaching learning process. In their daily conversation with their friends, the Madurese children often use Indonesian-Madurese through code mixing. This phenomenon happen because of the technological influence of the globalization period.

In the globalization period, the most of children have been using gadget, even some of them are almost addicted to those gadget in their daily. A child is a great impersonator which is every single slide they have been watched can be copied easily by them. A tiny example of the daily language used, taken from slides and videos they watch from the gadget. For instance, they’re prefer used the word “anjir”, “bestie”, “bego”, etc. in their daily conversation because it souds like cool and happening. They’re prouder using those words during playing an online game.

The advances of technology and human civilizations are also make Madurese being recessive, being leaved and far from the pride. The children are ashamed using Madurese because it is not as interesting as the language they used and follow in the social media.

A child is one who need all facilities, careness, support, and power that make them grow healthy, independent, and mature (Sarumpet, 2010:4). The 4th grade student at the elementary school (SD) need a guidance so that they can grow becoming an active, creative, and independent personality (Amalia & Hafsi, 2019). One of the personality supporter and builder of children is a language. Language is a child open minded helper to communicate and express their feeling.

Nevertheless, how can children speak well if they don’t love their language? Especially their mother tongue, or another local dialect that has a main rule on their daily communication. Based on the background, the research entitled Sastra Madura sebagai Media Pembelajaran Bahasa Madura di Era Globalisasi is being necessary to do.

Children literature is a literature that reflecting children todays feeling and experiences, which can be seen and understanding through children sight (Rumidjan, 2013; Tarigan, 1995). Children literature is an emotional psychological literature that can be responsible and understand by child, and generally it goes from a concretely and easily imagination fact. Children literature can tell about anything, even it sound non-sense for an adult. The language used on children literature is an incredible understanding language by children, and it properly within their growing and comprehending level (Kurniawan, 2009). Delivered messages are values, moral, and education that suitable with the comprehending and the way of their thinking. In a conclusion, children literature is a literature which proper with children intelligence development and emotional growth that can be seen from the content and language.

Tarigan (1995) state that there are beneficial values within the children literature for their growth. Those values are giving them pleasure and joyfulness, giving new experience, help developing their imagination, developing their knowledge to become behave human, to introduce the nature, and as a main source literary heritage for further generations.

Children literature are believed it has a great contribution for children personality development on their mature process as a human with a strong identity. Personality or identity of children are shaped and formed through an environment, consciousness or unconsciousness (Nurgiyantoro, 2016; Winarni, 2014).

Learning media is one of the method or tool used on teaching learning process. The Application of Madurese Children Literature as a Media of Madurese Learning

Nurgiyantoro (2016) state that the contribution of children literature in the growth stage and development are classified to personal value and educational value. The personal value contains emotional development, intelligence development, imagination development, social growth, and ethic and religious growth. The educational value contains the exploration and invention, language development, aesthetical development, multicultural wide cultivation, and reading habit cultivation.

The function of literary works as a developer of speaking ability can be seen from the activities learning of children literature through play song, poem song, reading short story, novel, fable, etc. It reflected from Madurese song (Tajib, 1987), are as follow:

Malathe Pote

Kembang malathe pote, bauna ro’om ngapencot ate

Ghi’ bhuru epettek dhari taman sare ropana cengngar tor asre

Bannyak khembang se sae, ta’ seddha’ akadhi malathe

Menangka pangesto kaator ka potre se seddha’ akadhi malathe

Melati Putih

Bunga melati putih, harum wangi menawan hati

Baru saja dipetik dari taman bunga, bentuk/rupa segar dan indah

Banyak bunga yang bagus, namun tidak sedap/semenarik seperti halnya melati
Maka dari itu bunga melati ini diberikan sebagai hadiah kepada putri yang menawan seperti halnya melati

Poem or Madurese song entitled “Malathe Pote” is describing the beauty of jasmine. Most of the vocabularies on the song lyric is becoming familiar and often used by the children in their daily. For instance, the word kembang at the first stanza has the meaning flower and it often used by the children in their daily conversation. Some of Madurese vocabularies which are weird in the song lyric are ngapencot, taman sare, ropana, cengngar, asre, sedda, akadhi, menangka, pangesto, and kaator.

Based on the observation, the introduction of Madurese through speech or the explanation of the subject, makes the student difficult to comprehending and pronuncing. Nevertheless, through Madurese song lyric, the vocabularies are easy to say and understand the meaning. The students are also enthusiast and joyful singing those Madurese song poems.

From the song lyric Kembang Malate, the student are also knowing the language level through Madurese. There are 3 level in Madurese, those are (1) enje’ iya, (2) engghi enten, dan (3) engghi bhunten. Enje’ iya becoming the most lower level and usually used in the daily conversation and between friends. Enje’ iya usually used by teacher with his student, Kiai with his santri, leader to the the worker.
One of the example of the vocabulary is ropana, means a face. Besides, the example of up high language level, engghi bhunten is salerana. Through the song, the students are not only learning vocabularies but also knowing that there are 3 level of Madurese.

Another Madurese song poem is Tandhu’ Majang

Tandhu’ Majang

Ngapote wa’ lajarra e tangale, reng majeng tantona la pade mole

Mon tegghu dhari ambet pajelenna, maseh benny’aah ongghu le-ollenah

Ooo mon ajelling odhi’na oreng majhengan

Abental ombek sapo’ angina salanjangnga

Olle…ollang…paraona alajarra

Olle…ollang alajere ka Madura

It different with previous poem song before, this song tells about the fisherman daily life in Madura. Diction or vocabulary chosen is poetic and has several figurative languages. At the first line, means as far as the eye can see of the sea, when see the boat sails, means that the fisherman will go to sailing or returning with their haul. The second line, means if you pay attention from the slowness of boat running, you can expected they return with lots of haul. At the third line, tells about the daily life of the fisherman.

The fourth line contains of Hyperbole, wave bearing, wind-covered, all whole life. The fifth and sixth line, there is ‘language trick’ which is according to Mitchel (Nurgiyantoro, 2016) state that ‘language trick’ which getting from alliteration, assonance, rhyme, and rhytme, will make children happy, pleasure, throw the anxiety, and rise their motivation to study. At the Madura song poem, also contains some aesthetical value is the repetation of sound or word that makes the poem beautiful and melodic.

The researcher do the early observation to get the data about the Madurese at SDIT Multazam. Based on the observation, there is Madurese lesson taught from the 1\textsuperscript{st} grade until 6\textsuperscript{th} grade at SDIT Multazam Pamekasan. The learning of Madurese at SDIT Multazam did nor running well. It can be seen from the low score of the student work sheet. Besides, the student unwilling to use Madurese in their daily conversation because they feel shy and did not know well the grammatical using of Madurese. Next, the researcher try to applying Madureses Literature through Madurese song as a media of Madurese learning at SDIT Multazam.
CONCLUSION

Based on the research finding, the 4th grade students at SDIT Multazam Pamekasan are enthusiastic using literary of children Madurese as a learning media of Madurese in globalization period. Children literary works used in the research are Madurese songs entitled Kembang Malate and “Tandhu’ Majheng”. With this introduction, the vocabulary skill and Madurese ability are grow fast. The students feel easily to pronouncing and comprehending the meaning of Madurese through the upbeat and easy listening song, because of it different with their daily language, the diction of literary works are aesthetical emotional that expresses the beautyness.

Just because a language at the literature is a language that creative, for instance, there are sound play in a poem, so that with intens to read a literary work, the students become more creative in their language used. The students become drilled in operating grammatical structure well and creative. The students are know the language level that Siswa juga mengetahui tingkatan bahasa yang terdapat dalam bahasa Madura serta penggunaannya dengan tepat.
